

The magnetic lattice has been carefully designed within the hardware constraints of the magnets.

Care must be taken to control filamentation and scraping.

