to not make people rebuild per MAUS install

History

#1 - 01 May 2011 20:25 - Tunnell, Christopher

this ties into (I think) having the third_party stuff ship as a binary. People should specify if they are using 32 or 64 bit Linux and not have to compile stuff on their own. I think that the hour it takes to get MAUS working (though it gets working off the bat) means people lose interest in MAUS.

#2 - 10 May 2011 18:29 - Tunnell, Christopher

- Assignee changed from Tunnell, Christopher to Robinson, Matthew

- Target version set to Future MAUS release

#3 - 13 October 2011 09:40 - Rogers, Chris

- Status changed from Open to Rejected

Unless anyone has a burning desire to provide this - I think the build system works for now... propose we reject it.
